

Hi folks,

I thought I had better write you a letter lest you think I was languishing in some semi-conscious state unable to respond or think. I am well and I should be back on course in about two weeks. In fact, except for a whopping headache that is subsiding and a slight bit of woozy I'm good.

Anyway, I want to tell you about the miracle I expected. Dr Pallatroni, the neurosurgeon said that if I had been lying on my side on the operating table the tumor would have fallen out on its own. It would be just a matter of picking it up and disposing of it.

For those interested I added some attachments. There is one of my surgery and one of my comb-over (Donald Trump eat your heart out)!

There was not even the slightest hint of cancer. Is our God good or what?

I am looking forward to many more fruitful years at Gabriel House working with our wonderful kids

We are having some of the hottest weather on record ever on the Baja. It is hot and it is miserable for our kids. Please pray for cooler weather. Though we cannot do anything about the weather we know who can!

God bless

Renie
